Looks like decorative statues scattered across Demon Ruins and Lost Izalith. While some of them are really just a decoration, most of them are mobile, fire-breathing statues.

Location

Strategy

This enemy is slow and extremely weak, but it does pack a punch with its fire breathing move. The best way to deal with them is to wait for them to make their move, since they are stationary while breathing fire, and then attack from behind. However, it is much faster to simply rush them and kill them before they can do anything as their attack takes time to build up.
