

Minor Capra Demon

Description

A copy of the Capra Demon found in the Undead Burg, although this enemy is easier due to its lower HP, open surroundings, and the experience and gear you have gained.

Location

Demon Ruins

Playthrough	HP	Souls
New Game	589	800
NG+	996	2,400

Attacks

The moves are the same as the Capra Demon, so continue to watch out for the two-handed swing which pierces shields.

Strategy

There are seven Minor Capra Demons who respawn in and around the ruins area, five of which are in the first floor of the ruins. Lure them one by one back up the cliff path to get more room to maneuver. They will most likely use their two-handed lunge attack when following you, which creates a small opening for counterattack. They recover from attacks fast, so stay alert. Although you can draw aggro from a modest distance, using arrows or other long-range attacks will also lure them easily. The hardest section to deal with are the three demons who are fairly close to each other in the ruins, but keep drawing focus away and you should be fine.

Alternatively, after getting past the first one, all the others can be avoided. Run along the ledge, and when you see the landing below with the bonfire, just drop down to it.

These Capra Demons only have 45 Poise, so two-handing a weapon such as a Spear or Curved Sword allows the player to stagger them and get extra damage in much more frequently.

Note

- All Minor Capra Demons in the Demon Ruins will respawn after resting at a bonfire, unlike the seven of Minor Taurus Demons on the hardened lava field at the beginning of the area.

- The Capra Demon's one handed attacks can be parried, but the only effect of a successful parry is the attack ignores you.
