Availability

- Sold by Andre of Astora for 20,000 souls
- Andre of Astora drop

Use

Opens the large sealed, glowing door in the Darkroot Garden

Notes

- This negates the need to circle around the Darkroot Garden and fight the Hydra in the Darkroot Basin to get access to the ladder, as well as providing very efficient soul farming of the Clan of Forest Protectors. It is not actually required, but is highly recommended; not only does it make the trip to the Sif, the Great Grey Wolf boss fight much easier, the soul farming of the Forest Protectors will make back the 20,000 cost of the Crest in no time. Your first time killing the whole Clan will yield 15,000 souls, of which 7,000 will then continue to re-spawn. A character of mid-level and above can farm 7,000 souls a minute; even quicker when casting Homeward.
- At the very location of the door that requires the Crest of Artorias, there is an illusory wall to the left, beside the locked door, hiding a secret Bonfire.
- The easiest method to buy this key is to kill the Bell Gargoyles and the Moonlight Butterfly. Both will give you 10,000 souls when defeated, resulting in quick 20,000 souls.

- If you want to open the door without killing the gargoyles, you can farm souls with the Hellkite Dragon method. If this technique is optimized, it will grant you 1100 souls ~minute. You only need to kick the ladder to the bonfire in the Undead Burg to do this. It would take around 18 - 20 runs to accumulate 20,000.
- Another helpful soul farming area, conveniently located right next to the Crest and a short run from Andre, is the side-passage to the right of the Crest that leads to the Moonlight Butterfly. The journey from the hidden bonfire mentioned above through, this passage, including the side 'trap' area, provides five Giant Stone Knights and seven Demonic Foliages, a total of 3,700 souls. These can be quickly farmed using the hidden bonfire as a base, and six runs would yield 22,200 souls. See the Darkroot Garden page and walkthrough for more details.

Undead Parish	Lautrec's cell.	Mystery Key	Only useful if the player sequence breaks by using the Valley of Drakes shortcut, since the Mystery Key is found along the path to Undead Parish.

Depths	Opens the door to the only bonfire in the area.	Sewer Chamber Key	Early access to the bonfire if the player doesn't drop down the chute to the Giant Undead Rat.
Sen's Fortress	Opens the cages in the hidden area behind the sleeping Serpent Soldier	Cage Key	Early access to Big Hat Logan and Soul of a Hero.
New Londo Ruins	Opens the door to the Valley of Drakes.	Key to New Londo Ruins	Early access to Astora's Straight Sword and Dragon Crest Shield. This particular shortcut enables massive sequence breaking (see below)

New Game Plus

Once the player acquires this key, it remains with them when even after entering NG+

Notes

- Even though the Master Key can open the door leading to the 3 Gold Pine Resins, it can't open the door where Griggs is trapped in the same area
- While having this key can make some situations easier for a first time player, it can potentially make others much harder at times (as they may enter areas where game natural game progression would not take them yet). For a more natural progression and generally developer-intended experience, it is not recommended for first-time players to choose the Master Key as their starting gift.

Sequence Breaking

The Valley of Drakes shortcut is not only the first door that can be opened with the Master Key, it's also the most important. It enables the player to sequence break, gaining useful loot and making several areas (and its bosses) optional.

- Blighttown's poison swamp is available from the start, by taking the first small bridge in the Valley of Drakes and turning right into the green hued tunnel
  - This makes Lower Undead Burg, the Depths, and more than half of Blighttown optional
  - Early access to Shiva of the East as a vendor for Forest Hunter Covenant members (see below)

- The second Bell of Awakening can be rung before the first by killing Chaos Witch Quelaag - this grants early access to the first half of Demon Ruins, the Chaos Servant Covenant, and Eingyi (and possibly his Pyromancies)
    - The Pyromancy Flame from Eingyi can be acquired early and if upgraded to at least +10, Quelaana of Izalith will appear outside Quelaag's Domain
  - Easy access to Large and Green Titanite Shards farming spots, by killing the Giant Leeches in the swamp area of lower Blighttown
  - Early access to the Great Hollow and Ash Lake, potentially farming Twinkling Titanites from the Man-Eater Shells there
- Darkroot Basin is immediately accessible by running past the Undead Dragon and two Drakes, then entering the elevator
    - On the way out of the tunnel past the Bonfire, grab the Grass Crest Shield but be wary of the Black Knight above
    - Killing the Hydra enables access to Dusk of Oolacile and gear that benefits low-Intelligence players by increasing their damage output (see Crown of Dusk and Oolacile Ivory Catalyst)
    - The ladder next to the Hydra and waterfall allows access to the 2nd half of Darkroot Garden without the Crest of Artorias (costs 20,000 souls)
      - This also enables access to the Enchanted Ember, as well as allowing to the Forest Hunter covenant (needed for Shiva of the East, see above)
      - Killing Sif, the Great Grey Wolf at this point gives enables the player to take on the Four Kings early. New Londo Ruins can be accessed straight from Firelink Shrine, however since Ingward only gives the Key to the Seal once the player has acquired the Lordvessel, he'll need to be killed (he drops it upon death)
    - To farm the Clan of Forest Protectors efficiently, purchase the Crest of Artorias anyway from Andre and kindle the fire past the Illusory Wall next to the gate
      - 20,000 Souls can be acquired early and quick by killing the nearby bosses (Bell Gargoyles and Moonlight Butterfly)
    - Easy access to the tower that holds Havel the Rock (Poison Mist, found in the swamp of Blighttown can be used through the closed door where he stands to cheese him) - the watchtower door can then be opened safely with the Master Key
  - Undead Parish can be accessed before the Undead Burg by climbing the hill above the Black Knight in Darkroot Basin, which connects to Darkroot Garden, near the old church building where Andre of Astora is found
    - This makes Undead Burg and the majority of the Undead Parish optional, and early access to Undead Asylum as soon as the player activates the elevator shortcut back to Firelink Shrine
    - From the Undead Parish, the Altar of Sunlight can be easily reached since the Hellkite Dragon will not spawn unless the player passes through the small bridge at the beginning of Undead Burg (where he initially shows himself)
  - The Catacombs can be conquered with Astora's Straight Sword found next to the Undead Dragon in the Valley of Drakes, or other Divine weapons could be crafted with Andre, after the Divine Ember is acquired by killing the Moonlight Butterfly.

- This gives easy access to Vamos the fire blacksmith, as well as the Rite of Kindling by killing Pinwheel
- It might be worth visiting the Tomb of the Giants for the Covetous Silver Serpent Ring and Large Divine Ember (for light sources, see Cast Light or Skull Lantern)
